SEDALIA, MISSOURI, TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 18, 1895.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

A TERRIBLE STORM.

Serious Damage Done in Many Sections.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Many Persons Injured in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri By the Storm of Last Evening.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 18.—The heaviest rain and electrical storm experienced in this vicinity in many years began about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and continued until midnight. The traffic of street railways was seriously impeded by flooding of conduits of cable lines, and in many places in the city houses were flooded and moved from their foundations.

Four miles west of Kansas City, Kan., two young men were killed by lightning, and at Sheffield, an eastern suburb, several houses were ruined and three bridges were washed away. Joseph Thomas Butterwick, aged 19 and 15, were at work in a wheat field when the storm came up. They were both instantly killed by a bolt of lightning. The electrical fluid tore the clothing completely from the elder boy, while on the younger there were no marks of any kind.

At Westport, two houses were demolished, and thousands of dollars of damage was done to the macadamized roads.

In Kansas City, Kan., the cedar blocks of the pavement were washed out of the ground for several blocks, and so great was the water fall that the Kaw river overflowed its banks, and did great damage for several miles along its course through the city. Reports from Kansas say that a terrible tornado passed through the southeastern part of that state, doing great damage. Telephone, telegraph and electric light wires are down in many places, and their service is greatly impeded.

Damage to Stock and Crops.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 18.—A cyclone struck seven miles east of Humboldt, demolished houses, killed many head of live stock and did great damage to crops. William Stells and two members of his family were badly injured.

Damage at Moberly.

MOBERLY, Mo., June 18.—A heavy rain and wind storm visited this section yesterday, doing much damage to wheat and oats. In this city many shade trees were blown down and some damage done to residences in different parts of the city.

Storm in Nebraska.

OMAHA, Neb., June 18.—A terrific storm passed over Richardson county yesterday. It was first seen near Stella, when three funnel-shaped clouds came together and merged into one. It did not strike the ground until within a few rods of the west side of Stoltz' grove. From there it moved east through the grove and into the yard and outbuildings. It took everything in its path. A mule which was standing in the barn was picked up and carried thirty rods and disemboweled. A fine mare was injured so badly that she had to be shot, and 600 bushels of grain were destroyed. Two hundred chickens were killed. William Stoltz, his wife and three children were in the cellar when the storm struck the house. The shingles were torn off and all the windows on the east side were broken, as the house stood on the edge of the storm. The fencing and other improvements are entirely wrecked. The cyclone passed east from Stoltz's, through the field of Adam Geibhardt, mowing down a strip of corn and oats about 400 feet wide and a half mile in length, in some places hollowing out the ground.

Kansas Visited.

EMPORIA, Kan., June 18.—Last evening about 5 o'clock a fearful cyclone struck the town of Hartford, fourteen miles southeast of here. The cyclone struck the town from the southwest and swept everything clean from its path, which was clean cut and about 30 to 100 feet in width. No one, so far as known, was actually killed, although some are not expected to live.

ALMOST A 'CYCLONE.

The Storm of Last Night Closely Bordered On It.

The rain of last night was accompanied by wind that almost reached cyclonic proportions.

At M. H. Seibert's, west of town, an outhouse was moved from its foundation, trees were blown down and limbs were scattered all about the premises.

On Mr. Franklin's farm a house was blown down, the orchard uprooted, shade trees blown down, a house moved from its foundation and buggies in a shed were driven together and broken up.

At Perry Lewis' farm, further west, the barn was moved from its foundation, and outhouses blown into an adjoining field.

On Prof. Scotten's farm a porch was blown from in front of the house.

At H. Z. Quisenberry's a large cattle shed was razed to the ground and plank and rail fences were scattered over that entire section.

STANFORD FINED.

The Assailant of Will Anderson Arraigned in Police Court.

Ab Stanford, the negro who gave Will Anderson, another negro, a little scare last Saturday evening, was arraigned in the police court this morning. After the examination of a number of witnesses to both the fight and the subsequent chase with a pistol, Stanford was fined $10. He gave notice of appeal to the criminal division of the circuit court.

John Hall, the vagrant and alleged wife deserter, was convicted of vagrancy and fined $20. Chief Police Kahrs wrote to Hall's wife in Sullivan county Sunday night, but has not yet had a reply. Hall is believed to be either a fugitive from justice or a witness wanted in the celebrated Taylor murder case.

John Price and James Ramsey, against whom were filed informations for keeping unregistered dogs, were discharged.

GOING TO CELEBRATE.

Sedalia Will Have a Grand Time on July Fourth.

The Gentlemen's Driving club of Sedalia will give a grand celebration at Association park on July 4th, the arrangements all having been completed last evening.

In the afternoon there will be a game of ball between the Future Capitals and Belleville, Ill., Clerks.

Other attractions will be a balloon ascension and horse and bicycle races. There will also be dancing during the afternoon and evening, the day's festivities concluding with a pyrotechnical display by the Flambeau club at night.

No Sedalian will have to leave the city to have a jolly good time on Independence day.

Not in a Filthy Condition.

The stable of Lee Brown, on West Fifth street, which was complained of at the council last night, is not in a filthy condition, the proprietor says, and he asks an investigation at the hands of the sanitary officer. No liveryman in Sedalia keeps his premises more cleanly than he does, Mr. Brown says, and he cannot understand why he should be singled out and complained of.

A Picnic at Dumpville.

Mayor Hastain has been invited to speak at a basket picnic to be given at Mayfield's grove at Dumpville next Saturday. There will be two games of ball, races of all kinds and everybody will be made welcome.

Elevator Damaged.

The windstorm of last evening unroofed the Harris elevator at Knobnoster, owned by Robert Harris, of this city. There was no grain stored, the only damage being to a lot of empty grain bags, some of which were soaked with rain.

Going to Nevada.

The Future Capitals will go to Nevada for games Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

OBSCENE PRISONERS.

A Change Is Demanded at the City Calaboose.

The window in the calaboose open to the market square should be bricked up, at least to the bottom of the upper sash. At present, when the window is allowed to be open on account of ventilation, the prisoners assemble there, and emit a constant stream of profanity, obscenity and tobacco juice, to the utter annoyance of everybody who has to pass, and even to the people who pass along on Second street. Ladies are assailed, and a day or two ago, one had her dress ruined by a mouthful of tobacco juice from one of the inmates of the city prison.

Whisky, tobacco and even chewing gum are passed to the prisoners, in spite of the vigilance of the officers, and some day, when the marshal comes to feed his prisoners, he may find a few empty cells, some iron bars sawed in two, and an aching void in his list of inmates.

The Jeff City Fighters.

Ed. Dunivant informed his trainer today that Wm. Goetz has made overtures of peace and did not intend to fight on the 29th of this month, says the Jefferson City Courier. Mr. Goetz seems to think the authorities will take a hand in the matter, and both will get knocked out. Dunivant is ready and willing to continue the contest, but it seems it cannot be. Dunivant may now be placed against the Sedalia man.

Married at Moberly.

Miss Ada McSweeney, of Moberly, who has frequently visited in Sedalia, was married at her home last night to George C. Jones, chief dispatcher for the Wabash railway at Moberly.

Shrubbery Blown Down.

The wind of last evening blew down a number of shade and fruit trees in various portions of the city, and in several instances cyclone-fearers sought the cellar.

The Stepson of Conductor K. A. Easley Is Missing.

Thirteen-year-old Elmer Johnson, formerly of Sedalia, is mysteriously missing from his home in Nevada.

His stepfather, Conductor K. A. Easley, of the Nevada and Parsons M., K. & T. local, says the lad left Monday evening a week ago. The last seen of him he was out on the street playing with some other boys at about 7 o'clock.

It was thought he would show up in a day or two and no special effort was made to ascertain his whereabouts, but as the days went by and nothing was heard of him, the family became greatly distressed.

Flat Creek on a Boom.

Parties in from Flat creek this morning reported the stream higher than at any time for two years past, and it was still coming up. The rain of last night was a soaker, truly.

A WIDOW'S WINDELL.

Mrs. Ida Rowan Gets a Check for Thirteen Thousand Dollars.

Last fall Mrs. Ida Rowan accepted a position in Major J. H. Cullens' merchant tailoring establishment on Cherry street, says the Nevada Mail.

She came here from Kansas and has been a faithful and efficient help until the middle of last week, when she sought and obtained a leave of absence for a few days.

It was known that Mrs. Rowan was a widow, but it was not known until yesterday that she had great pecuniary expectations. While residing in Kansas, her husband was a conductor on the Santa Fe railroad. Some years ago he was killed in the discharge of his duties. His widow brought suit against the company and five years ago was given judgment in the sum of $10,000. The railroad appealed the case and the supreme court of Kansas affirmed the judgment with increased liabilities which raised the amount to $13,000, and last Friday Mrs. Rowan received a check from the Santa Fe railroad company for that amount.

She writes Judge Cullen that she will return shortly and resume her duties in his establishment.

Mayor Hastain Chosen.

The good people of El Dorado Springs will on July 19 and 20 celebrate the fourteenth anniversary of the discovery of the famed medicinal springs there.

On these occasions there is always an immense outpouring of people, and request was made of the Board of Trade that Sedalia be represented by an orator on that occasion.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the board's directors Mayor P. D. Hastain was named as the Future Capital's representative, and the general verdict will be that no better selection could be made.

DELEGATES NAMED.

Missouri On Wheels Convention Will Meet Tomorrow.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade directors, at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the following delegates were appointed to represent Sedalia at the "Missouri on Wheels" convention to be held here tomorrow:

Judge John N. Dalby, Mayor P. D. Hastain, Chas. E. Messerly, Hon. J. H. Bothwell, Senator Chas. E. Yeater, Judge Z. F. Bailey, M. G. Bentley, A. C. Baldwin, J. H. Mertz, E. W. Stevens, W. E. Bard, sr., J. H. Rice, P. B. Stratton, J. B. Quigley, J. West Goodwin, Van B. Wisker, D. C. Metsker, D. H. Smith, Wm. Beck, H. H. Marean, C. E. Ilgenfritz, J. J. Yeater, S. H. Beiler, Frank B. Meyer, J. C. Van Riper.

Secretary Gray informed the DEMOCRAT this morning that a keen interest had been worked up throughout the greater portion of the state, Cole county barred, and the outlook is good for a large attendance.

Crops Injured.

The heavy rain and wind last evening is thought to have done considerable damage to crops west of Sedalia, as much corn in the neighborhood of Lamonte and Knobnoster was blown down. The tender stalks could not withstand the fury of the gale, and some of them were broken off. Much of the crop, it is hoped, will recover.

Taken to Houstonia.

The body of Mrs. Allie Wilson, who died at Appleton City this morning, of pulmonary phthisis, was shipped to Houstonia for interment. She was a sister-in-law of Rev. Jos. Wright.

Moss Out of Jail.

Aaron Moss, colored, fifteen days for carrying concealed weapons, was released from the county jail this morning.

THE TELEPHONE FRANCHISE.

A special meeting of the city council is called for tomorrow night (the 19th) to further consider the ordinance granting a franchise to a proposed telephone company.

The members of the council are doubtless aware of the fact that on the 21st the new law requiring franchises to be sold to the highest bidder goes into effect.

This new law provides not only that all such franchises shall be sold to the highest bidder, but that under no circumstances shall a bid be considered that offers the city less than two per cent. of the gross earnings of the company.

If the franchise is granted on the 19th the city is shut out of the revenue to be derived under the new law, while if postponed until the 21st the city is certain to receive not less than two per cent. of the gross earnings of the company.

With a revenue hardly sufficient to meet the growing needs of the city, it is scarcely necessary to remind the members of the council how important it is to take advantage of the new law and secure this two per cent. of the gross earnings of the company.

The law was enacted for the protection of the taxpayers in cities, and was intended to compel those who enjoy valuable franchises to pay for them.

It will only require a delay of forty-eight hours to secure this revenue and thus to that extent relieve the taxpayers of the city, and the DEMOCRAT does not doubt that the council will take advantage of it.

It may not mean so much for one year, but the revenue continues during the life of the franchise, and, if Sedalia grows as anticipated, it means thousands of dollars in additional revenue.

The law is a wise one.
Let Sedalia have the benefit of it.

MISSOURI ON WHEELS.

The meeting in this city tomorrow of delegates from the live towns and progressive communities of the state to inaugurate the "Missouri on Wheels" movement is an important one to Sedalia as well as other cities.

Missouri has the resources to employ a million more people within the next five years.

In fact, she has room for five times that number.

She has mineral wealth equal to that of Pennsylvania, timber to surpass any state in the union and agricultural lands that are unequalled in point of fertility.

Our grand state is an empire in itself! We can grow cotton equal to that of any section of the south, wheat to match any state in the union and corn to equal Iowa, Nebraska or Illinois.

Then our fruit belt is the wonder of the world—the big red apple, the luscious peach and the rich ripe grapes all abound in a day's ride.

Our lands are cheaper than any others of equal fertility and nearness to market.

Any movement that results in gathering samples of these resources and placing them before the eyes of those who are hunting investments cannot fail to bring us capital and good citizens.

Every community is interested in this work, as all will share the benefits.

Sedalia extends a hearty welcome to the delegates who will be with us tomorrow. She is with them in the work and will contribute liberally to make this movement a grand success.

OUR EDITOR GUESTS.

It is hardly necessary for Sedalia to extend a formal greeting to her editor guests who come tomorrow to attend the Chautauqua and see the Future Capital.

They are her friends and they are always welcome. If they have not literally the keys of the city, they certainly have the keys to the hearts of the citizens.

The kind words they have said so often of the Queen City are known and treasured by her citizens.

Then they are usually enterprising men! If they receive liberal support from their communities they spend their earnings in working for the general good. If they receive little support, they go on working just the same, confident of better days when they have built up greater industries.

Sedalia loves an enterprising, pushing, hustling man, who under all circumstances maintains his courage and never allows a feeling of disloyal to his community to enter his breast.

These Missouri editors are pre-eminently the apostles of progress, and they are guests whom it delights Sedalia to entertain.

COMPANIES and corporations enjoy public franchises that make colossal fortunes for the owners. Frequently this franchise is the only capital of those receiving it, and is sufficiently valuable to lay the foundation for great wealth. Under the law which goes into effect on the 21st these franchises must be sold to the highest bidder, and the city is assured of at least two per cent. of the gross earnings of the company. If this law is taken advantage of by growing cities the tax-payers will be relieved of heavy burdens.

A DELAY of forty-eight hours in granting the proposed telephone franchise (that is, from the 19th to the 21st) will not injure the company, but it will secure the city two per cent. of the gross earnings during the life of the company. Of course the members of the council will see to it that Sedalia gets the revenue.

FROM every section of the country come reports of increased prosperity and unusual activity. Industries that have lagged for three or four years are starting up with new life, and wages that were reduced in consequence of the panic of 1893 are being restored.

THE real estate men of Sedalia are daily receiving the most encouraging communications from those who are seeking investments in the city and the prospects indicate unusual activity during the coming summer.

SULLIVAN'S BENEFIT.

Champion James J. Corbett Will Spar With the Ex-Champion.

On Thursday, June 27, at Madison Square garden, New York city, the once mighty and invincible "Champion of Champions," John L. Sullivan will be tendered what will probably be the greatest tribute ever paid to a pugilist, in the shape of a monster testimonial. An elaborate programme has been arranged which will surpass anything ever presented to the sporting public. John Dunn will be master of ceremonies.

The following pugilistic stars have promised to spar at the benefit: Jas. J. Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, "Mysterious" Billy Smith, Jack McAuliffe, Geo. Dixon, Jimmy Barry, Peter Maher, Steve O'Donnell, Jim Hall, Joe Choynski, Dan Creedon, Dick O'Brien, Jim McVey, "Shadow" Maher, Bob Armstrong, "Brooklyn Jimmy" Carroll, Frank Bosworth, Paddy Smith, of Denver; "Young Corbett," Patsy Kerrigan, Jimmy Handler, Stanton Abbott, "Kid" Lavigne, Ike Weir, Jack Skelly, Jimmy Gorman and Jack Levy.

Going to Incorporate.

Messrs. J. H. Bothwell, Geo. W. Barnett and B. G. Wilkerson have been appointed a committee to incorporate the Board of Trade, and Judge Bailey, B. G. Wilkerson and R. H. Gray a committee to select suitable headquarters for the board.

SCORE 13 TO 3.

The Future Capitals Took the Second Game from Louisiana.

The Future Capitals redeemed themselves yesterday afternoon when they won the second game from the Louisiana boys and also played without an error.

The weather was so threatening, rain falling at intervals, that very few believed there would be a game, and in consequence only a handful of people were present.

Pickett pitched, and did effective work from start to finish, that "tired feeling" having entirely disappeared. Harrison had on his batting clothes—but there is no occasion for individualizing as every man on the team played good ball. Only eight innings were played, in order that the visitors might catch the north-bound M., K. & T. train for home. The official score follows:

SMITHTON ITEMS.

Verily, our little city is getting to the front, even if the Warsaw nine did down our Smithton boys.

Mr. Albert Pruess is building a large frame two-story residence on South Second street, which will be a beauty when completed.

Mrs. H. S. Overstreet and daughter, of York, Neb., are visiting in Smithton this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Doctor R. W. S. Overstreet.

Prosecuting Attorney Wilbur Jackson, of Warsaw, came down yesterday morning to attend the ball game. Wilbur was raised in this township and has many warm friends here.

Mr. Rudy Monsees has completed a nice dwelling house for himself, and it is believed that it will soon be occupied by Rudy Monsees and wife, as he seems to be a little tired of single blessedness.

Quite a nice and interesting game of baseball was played here yesterday evening between our home nine and a select nine from Warsaw. The game was called at 2:15 by Umpire John Stone, of Warsaw. The first half of the first inning was rocky, the Warsaw boys making seven runs. The Smithton boys were handsomely attired in white suits, and the Warsaw boys were dressed in gray. Notwithstanding the appearance of rain at any moment, a large crowd congregated to witness the game. Our boys kicked several times on the umpire's decisions, but the fact is, Warsaw was too much for us. They left this morning for Bunceton, where they play the Bunceton nine this afternoon. Yesterday's game resulted in a victory for Warsaw, the score being 15 to 5. Our boys are plucky and have determined to play them another game, which will be in Warsaw one day next week, at which time we hope to win the game.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

WESTMINSTER, Cal., March 21, 1894.—Some time ago, on awakening one morning, I found I had rheumatism in my knee so badly that, as I remarked to my wife, it would be impossible for me to attend to business that day. Remembering that I had some of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in my store I sent for a bottle, and rubbed the afflicted parts thoroughly with it, according to directions, and within an hour I was completely relieved. One application had done the business. It is the best liniment on the market, and I sell it under a positive guarantee. R. T. HARRIS.

Something New For Sedalia.

Why do you buy the old hard tough meat and send it home for your wife to cook and then complain with her because she has not made it tender, when you can buy meat that is already tender, made so by the cold storage process? We hold all our meat in cold storage until they become tender and juicy before we send it out. There is no use of any one in Sedalia having any difficulty with tough meat, for we can furnish you with something you will appreciate and you will have a meal you will enjoy. All we ask of you is to give us a trial, and you will fall right in line with the balance and buy your meat where you can get something fit to eat. We make a specialty of prime roast beef, and we guarantee every one of our roasts to be tender and juicy.

The reason our meats are so much better than you get elsewhere is because we have the largest cold storage, by half, than any two other markets in the city, and we can hold our meats long enough so they become tender. Any one who knows anything about meats knows what cold storage will do for it. It takes all the old hard tough substance from it and gives it a nice tender and juicy flavor. The old foggy way of butchering a beef to-night and selling it out tomorrow, like it is being done by others, is why your meat is tough.

Leave word at our market and we will call at your house daily and get your orders, or telephone 120. NEWTON MEAT CO.

Will Ship Thursday.

Sam F. Gillman will on Thursday ship Luna, 2:20 1/4, and Maggie Higgins, 2:16 1/4, to Red Oak, Iowa, where the race meeting opens next Tuesday, the 25th. Sam stated this morning that both animals were in good condition, and he expects to capture his share of the purses over the circuit.

COUNCIL MEETING.

New Telephone Ordinance Read Twice and Referred.

SEVENTH STREET PAVING.

Engineer's Estimate Filed and Clerk Directed to Readvertise for Bids.

The council met in regular session last evening, with Mayor Hastain presiding, and all members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

An ordinance granting to L. P. Andrews the right to establish, construct and maintain a telephone system in Sedalia was taken up and read. The ordinance provides an underground system and makes the maximum toll for the use of telephones $2 per month for telephones in business houses, and $1.50 per month in private residences. The system must be in operation eight months from the adoption of the ordinance, and the ordinance accepted within thirty days.

The ordinance was discussed by Mr. J. B. Quigley, Judge W. S. Shirk, Councilman Berry and others, and was amended in certain particulars. It was then, on motion of Mr. Hoffman, read a second time and referred to the committee on ordinances and city attorney, to be reported at an adjourned meeting to be held Wednesday night.

A petition signed by thirteen citizens, asking that a stable in block 21, Smith & Martin's first addition, be declared a nuisance and condemned, was read and referred to the committee on sanitary.

A petition, numerous signed, for an arc lamp at the intersection of Main street and Park avenue, was read and referred to the committee on public lighting.

On motion of Mr. Dugan, Josie Montgomery was allowed $2 for the value of personal property condemned at the pest house.

Mayor Hastain called attention to the charges preferred against the keeper of the pest house, during the small pox scare, as laid before the council in a letter from John Montgomery, jr., chairman of the municipal committee of the Civic federation. Mr. Montgomery was present, and the mayor asked him to give his authority for the charges.

Mr. Montgomery said he had gleaned his information from Mr. Mertz and other citizens, who had made personal investigation.

Mr. Anderson, chairman of the sanitary committee, to which was referred the communication, said he had not visited the pest house to make an investigation, nor would he subject himself to the contagion by a personal inspection.

Mr. Mertz said he had been told of the condition of affairs at the pest house, and had then made a personal investigation. With these data at hand, Mr. Montgomery had prepared the charges.

Mr. Hoffman said that the charge was against the whole city administration, and he, for one, courted the fullest investigation, which also met the hearty approbation of the mayor.

Mr. Anderson, when assured that he need not visit the pest house, but could examine witnesses, agreed, if the committee be given further time, to make investigation and report.

The ordinance providing for the paving and grading of West Fourth street was passed by a unanimous vote of the council, and the street and alley committee directed to advertise for bids for the work. The same committee will advertise for bids for the construction of sidewalks on Sixth street, and for the paving of the alley between Ohio and Osage and Fifth and Sixth streets.

It was decided to receive the engineer's estimates of the cost of paving East Seventh street and to re-advertise for bids.

Warrants for $240 for interest, and $3,000, to be applied on the redemption of bonds, were ordered.

Curd Petty's property, on West Main street, was rented for a city pound at $10 a month.

Resolutions to pave East Fifth street, from Hancock to Engineer street, and Ohio street, from Broadway to the M., K. & T. railroad, were passed.

The council adjourned to meet Wednesday evening.

TENNYSON'S FLOWERS.

The Poet Makes Many References to Beautiful Blossoms in His Works. Tennyson speaks of "a skin as clean and white as privet when it flowers," and truly the privet, with its prim leaves and small white flowers, looks a very Puritan for neatness and simplicity. References to the flowers of our gardens of course abound, and many will occur at once to the Tennyson reader. The rose and the lily play more than a commonplace part in "Maud," where, indeed, all the flowers are interested spectators of the drama. Passages such as

"A walk of roses ran from door to door,
A walk of lilies crost it to the bower," from the Idylls might have been written by many others, and bell flowers, though we may be grateful to Tennyson for preserving the old-fashioned name, "Canterbury bells," are easily paralleled from many poets. Perhaps the beautiful line, "Love like an Alpine harebell hung with tears," deserves an especial mention; he has written a poem to the snowdrop, which is styled "February-fair-maid," and it forms a fitting part of his picture of "St. Agnes' Eve," which, as W. E. Henley has pointed out, is so dazzlingly pure in its whiteness, and a contrast in Keat's brilliantly-colored poem on the same subject.

Of the early spring, with its violets, primroses and crocuses, our poet is never tired, and has avowed his especial love for April, being an Elizabethan in this as in many other things, that it is surprising to find comparatively little mention of the daffodil. It is hardly to be found anywhere except in "Maud" and "The Sonnet to the Nineteenth Century"—"Here in this roaming moon of daffodil and crocus." Perchance Tennyson felt that it had been so fully celebrated elsewhere as to become hackneyed in spite of all its beauty.—Good Words.

COULDN'T FILL THE ORDER.

Senator Wolcott and the Young Lady Applicant for a Pass.

In addition to his duties as United States senator from Colorado, Edward O. Wolcott is the general counsel of the Denver & Rio Grande railway. Of course he receives many applications for passes. A young lady living in the southern part of Colorado desired to visit Denver. She had a friend of her own sex in Denver, who was a friend of Senator Wolcott's. The young lady wrote her Denver friend a long letter, saying she would like to visit the capital, and concluded it as follows: "I wish you would ask Mr. Wolcott to send me a pass from Alamosa to Denver and return."

Of course there had to be a postscript, of which the following is a true copy:

"P. S.—I wish you would send me one of those Y. Z. corsets—the kind you wore when I saw you last. They are just too lovely for anything."

The Denver lady, in a moment of absent-mindedness, turned the letter over, indorsed a request to Senator Wolcott for a pass on the back thereof, and mailed it to Mr. Wolcott's office.

The next day she received this reply:

"My dear madam: I inclose you a pass for your friend from Alamosa to Denver and return, as requested. I would send her the corsets, but I don't know her number."—Chicago Tribune.

Franklin's Chess Table.

The most interesting piece of furniture in the reception room at the residence of Mrs. E. D. Gillespie is a table which no one nowadays would presume to call a chess table; but such it is, and was the prized property of Mrs. Gillespie's famous grandfather, Benjamin Franklin. Mrs. Gillespie says that her mother, who was three years old when Franklin died, could remember seeing the great philosopher and statesman while away hours over the chessmen. The table is of mahogany and of ordinary height, though rather small.

The top is scarcely a foot square, and it looks as though there was little room for the royal game. There is a sliding piece, however, that comes out just under the top in some manner similar to that of the pieces used in the modern roll-top desk. At the back there is a long, upright sliding frame in which is stretched a piece of silk. This Mrs. Gillespie's mother recalled seeing Franklin raise to keep the wind from blowing out the candle by the dim light of which the game was played.—Philadelphia Call.

Shakespeare and the Farmer.

Ex-Senator Palmer, of Michigan, tells a good story of an old Michigan farmer to whom he lent a volume of Shakespeare's works. After allowing time for a perusal of the book the senator asked the man one day what he thought of the book. "Well," said the Michigan farmer, "there's some mighty good reading in it, and I see the old man has some of my ideas."—N. Y. Mail and Express.

UNCLE SAM'S FLAGS.

Interesting Details from the Workshops Where They Are Made.

The Numerous Flags Used by the United States Navy—Something About Their Manufacture—How the Bunting Is Tested.

Before a man-o'-war is completely equipped she must be supplied with a varied assortment of the flags of all nations, says the Boston Globe. The flag lockers of a cruiser like the New York will contain more than two hundred different ensigns.

All the flags for our navy are made in the equipment building at the Brooklyn navy yard. The floor of the flag room is covered with lines, representing the exact measurements of the various ensigns, and it is no easy matter to turn out a flag which will be exactly according to pattern, both as to design and measurement.

There are eight colors used in flags—red, white, blue, orange, yellow, green, brown, black and canary yellow.

The canary yellow is used instead of white in flags used for signaling. This is because it is found that, when signaling at a distance, a white flag or a device on a white ground blends with the horizon and becomes almost invisible.

The largest American flag made is called No. 1. It measures 34.86 feet in length and 13.12 feet in breadth, and is very rarely used.

The size called No. 2, which is considerably smaller, is the one generally used by warships.

Cruisers carry the stars and stripes in seven different sizes, but only the Minneapolis and the Detroit fly the gigantic No. 1 size.

The most difficult flag to make is that of San Salvador. This flag requires all of the colors, and Costa Rica runs it close, requiring all but brown.

Our own flag is by no means an easy one to make. The forty-four stars in their blue field have to be accurately arranged, and the stripes mathematically exact according to the official pattern.

The stars are made of muslin, folded twenty-five times and punched out by a steel punch, which cuts a dozen or more stars at each operation.

There are used in the navy yard fifty thousand yards of bunting annually, which is all made in the United States. Before being made up into flags the bunting is put to a very severe test. From each lot a sample is taken and steeped in fresh water for twenty-four hours. After that it is thoroughly scrubbed with strong soap and then rinsed and dried. It is then exposed to the direct sunlight for eighteen hours, and if it shows no fading in color it is accepted.

The industry gives employment to a great many men and women.

SHE KISSED HIM.

After That There Was Nothing to Do But Order Orange Blossoms.

A kiss once played an important part in the life of the famous Belgium statesman, Frere-Orban.

In his youth the future minister was a poor student, bearing the simple name of Frere. He had great difficulty in earning enough money to keep him at the university till he was ready to pass his examination in the department of law.

The young man fell in with a Fraulein Orban, the daughter of a wealthy and aristocratic family who opposed his suit.

"If you pass your examination well to-morrow," said Fraulein Orban on the eve of the trial to her lover, "come to the theater and to the box in which I shall be sitting with my parents."

"Will they allow me?" asked the student.

"I shall see to that," was the determined young woman's answer.

Frere was successful, and entered the box in the evening happy but frightened.

The pretty girl, as soon as he had crossed the threshold, stood up, rushed toward him before a word was spoken and kissed him heartily on the lips.

The astonished parents were soon informed of the significance of the kiss by the daughter. As many other people had seen the young girl's action, the parents decided to make the best of it, and accepted young Frere as a son-in-law on condition that he add Orban to his name.

This he did as a matter of course and made it famous.

Remarkable Hailstorm.

The most wonderful hailstorm on record as having occurred within the United States was that at Dubuque, Ia., June 16, 1882.

It began at 2:35 p. m., and lasted but thirteen minutes, but within that time hail fell to the depth of three feet. The hailstones, which weighed from one ounce to two and one-half pounds, were of all kinds of fantastic shapes and were woven around rocks, sticks, earth, beetles, frogs, etc.

LIFE'S HISTORY.

MRS. HARRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Neb., writes: "For about two years I was a constant sufferer from diseases peculiar to my sex. I had to be carried from my bed, had horrible dreams, sinking sensations, was very nervous and had little or no appetite. In short, my whole body was racked with pain. I had frequent attacks of hysteria and was completely discouraged for I found no medicine did me any good. At last I determined to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had taken but two bottles before I felt so much better! I took eleven bottles. To-day, I am well. I have never felt the least trace of my old complaint in the last six years. We use the 'Golden Medical Discovery' whenever we need a blood-purifier. With its use, eruptions of all kinds vanish and the skin is rendered clear and soft, almost as an infant's." Sold everywhere.

IN MEMORIAM.

Resolutions by the Bar on the Death of A. S. Hammer.

At a meeting of the Pettis county bar, yesterday afternoon, the following resolutions of respect and sympathy were adopted:

WHEREAS, We have just received the sad intelligence of the death of Albert S. Hammer, a member of the Sedalia bar; and,

WHEREAS, For some five or six years past he has been an honored and respected member of this bar, as well as a most estimable citizen; and,

WHEREAS, In all his relations with the bar he has by his uniform kind and courteous treatment greatly endeared himself to us; and,

WHEREAS, We have always known him, as a lawyer and a citizen, to have sustained the highest character for integrity, moral and good habits; and we have recognized in him a faithful, industrious and promising young lawyer, who, were it not for his ill-health, had a prospect for a long, honorable and useful career; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Sedalia bar, deplore the loss of a young fellow member of our profession, whose career was such as to reflect credit upon his chosen work; and,

Resolved, Further, that in his death the bar and community have lost a most valuable member and citizen, and his bereaved wife a most exemplary husband; and

Resolved, Further, that we express to his sorrowing wife, parents and kindred our sympathy in this their hour of affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to his wife; that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Sedalia papers, and further that George W. Barnett be authorized and directed to present these resolutions of respect and sympathy to the circuit court of Pettis county and ask that they be spread upon its records; and that Colonel Thomas P. Hoy, of said bar, be authorized and directed to present these resolutions to the probate court of this county and ask that the same be spread upon its records.

Approved and unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Sedalia bar this 17th day of June, 1895.

LAST DAY BUT ONE.

Eleventh Day of the Ninth Chautauqua Assembly.

REV. MILLER'S LECTURE.

One of the Strongest Men Now Engaged in the Work in the Entire United States.

The eleventh day of the Ninth Chautauqua assembly, though wet and rainy, has been a very successful one. The programme was excellent and pleased the large audience present.

The event of the past twenty-four hours, however, was the address last evening, in the Assembly hall, by Dr. Jahu DeWitt Miller, on "Love, Courtship and Marriage." About seven hundred people were present and listened attentively from the first word to the last.

Mr. Miller is pronounced one of the strongest men now engaged in the Chautauqua movement in the United States, and not one of his hearers but will be glad to hear him again. The subject chosen is one fraught with much good at the hands of so able a logician as Dr. Miller, and the unanimous verdict is that he handled it to perfection.

It should not be forgotten that Dr. Miller will lecture again tonight, this time taking for his subject, "The Stranger at Our Gate," a lecture that has received hearty commendation wherever heard. It treats of the immigration question, and the doctor will elucidate some of the good and some of the bad things in the law that now governs, and will point out some plain truths for the future. The large Auditorium should be crowded to its utmost capacity to hear him.

Today was "National Day," and the exercises were largely devoted to the kindergarten movement. At 9 o'clock Miss Mary C. McCulloch, a leading kindergarten teacher in St. Louis, delivered a very interesting "Kindergarten Talk" for the benefit of small children, many of whom were present.

About one hundred and fifty pupils from grades 1 and 2 of the public schools, under the direction of Miss Anna Mertz, sang a number of pieces, made a few recitations, and departed themselves generally to the credit of their teacher.

Eleven o'clock was the hour set for Dr. Miller's second lecture, but this was postponed until 8 o'clock this evening, and Miss McCulloch talked on "The Meaning of Play" to another fairly large audience of children. All school children were admitted free today, but the rain kept many at home. It had been arranged that the school children would enjoy a day's outing, and they would have had a jolly time but for the weather.

Both Mr. William L. Wilson, postmaster general, and Hon. Z. T. Sweeney, of Indiana, were to have spoken this afternoon, but neither was able to be present.

TOMORROW'S PROGRAMME.

Tomorrow will be Editor's day, when it is expected that a large number of Missouri newspaper men and others will be present. Following is the printed programme:

10 a. m.—Addresses by leading editors of Missouri. Music by the Dudley Buck quartet. D. R. Anthony, Leavenworth, Kan.; Hon. C. F. Cochran, St. Joseph, Mo. Auditorium.

3 p. m.—Addresses by editors of Missouri. Special music. Col. J. P. Tracy, Springfield, Mo. Auditorium.

8:00—A special musical programme, in charge of Mrs. W. D. Steele. Auditorium.

Bitten by a Snake.

Lew Klink and others returned this morning from a fishing trip on Muddy and report that a farmer living near Georgetown was bitten on the hand by a monster snake while removing a stump last Saturday night.

Excursionists Here.

A party of twenty-six excursionists arrived from Ottumwa this morning and were driven to the Chautauqua assembly. They will look over the city before their return home.

Killed Over a Pig.

NEWPORT, Ark., June 18.—Friday morning Jesse Roy, living in Cow Lake township, about twenty-three miles from this place, shot and killed a man by the name of Crawford, a stamemaker. The weapon used was a Winchester. According to the best information Crawford and Roy were great friends until recently, when Crawford shot a pig belonging to Roy. On the day mentioned Crawford came over to where Roy lived, armed with a Winchester, and dared him to come out and have it settled. Roy did not come out just then, and Crawford turned away, when Roy came out of his house. Turning to come back, Crawford saw Roy and made for a stump, behind which to hide, but, before he reached it, Roy shot him. Roy gave himself up to the local constable, who brought him to town, and he is now in jail.

A CLEVER CAPTURE.

Officers Jackson and Barnett Run Down a Kansas City Criminal.

Deputy Constable Barnett and Officer John Jackson made a very clever capture at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when they ran across W. F. Crider, wanted in Kansas City for election frauds.

For two weeks Mr. Jackson has been shadowing Crider, who is under indictment. He has been going under an assumed name, collecting for the L. B. Price installment house, of Kansas City. When he had to send money home, however, he was compelled to use his right name, and it was finally through one of the express companies that Officer Jackson found him.

Crider is stopping with his wife at 400 East Second street.

The arrest was made on West Main street. Mr. Barnett approached him, called him "Crider," and pretended to have known him all his life. At first the fellow denied his identity, but finally owned up, admitting that he had been indicted for some "trouble at the election." He had about $25 in silver, and made strong objections to being searched by Jackson. He was locked in the calaboose, and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney George A. Neal notified of his arrest. Mr. Neal had written to Chief Kahrs that Crider was here, and asked him to notify his office by telegraph.

Crider wrote two telegrams, one to the L. B. Price company and the other to Dr. O. W. Kruger. In the one to Price he says:

"I am arrested; think I will be there in the morning."

To his wife he wrote this note: "They've got me. Don't worry. 'Will'."

Mrs. Crider was seen at her boarding place when the note was delivered. It was some seconds before she would own that her name was Crider, but finally she did so, and asked some questions. Her chief concern was whether "Will" would have to stay in jail all night.

The marshal will be after Crider at midnight.

Convicted as a Common Scold.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 18.—An interesting case in court yesterday was that of Mrs. Michaels, who was indicted as a common scold on complaint of the owners of four houses whose tenants threatened to move out unless the Michaels woman was suppressed. She was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and thirty days in jail. She wept when led away by a deputy sheriff. A neighbor named Mrs. Baldorf was sentenced to pay the costs on a similar conviction.

Broke Her Arm.

Mrs. Mary E. Ming, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Kinsel, at Santa Rosa, California, for several months, fell and broke her left arm just above the wrist a short time ago, says the Marshall Democrat News, and has not been able to be out since. She expected to have returned to Missouri this month, but this will perhaps delay her coming for some time.

Bring Out Your Vehicles.

All citizens of Sedalia who can conveniently do so are requested to bring their carriages, buggies and surreys to the court house at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of giving the visiting editors and others a ride through the city.

H. V. RICE, Chairman Com.

A Good Appointment.

Dr. W. G. Cowan has been appointed local medical examiner for the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of New York. He is said to be the youngest examiner in the company's service.

Childs May Return.

Pierce Childs, who left a few days ago for Cairo, Ill., to play with the club there, is expected to return to Sedalia in time to play with the Future Capitals against Nevada.

STOLE HER CHILD.

Mrs. Amanda Bobbitt Figures in Another Sensation.

Mrs. Amanda Bobbitt, wife of John Bobbitt, the painter, and who eloped with Officer John Creasey a few months ago, figured as the principal in another sensation this morning.

It will be remembered that she returned ten days since from Greenville, Texas, where Creasey is railroading, for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cadar Mashburn.

This morning Mrs. Bobbitt abducted her little daughter, who has been living with her father, and took the first train out of the city, supposedly for Texas.

The authorities down the road were not notified, it is said, so it is pretty safe to say that the woman will not be arrested.

Hypnotism Alleged.

CHARLESTON, Ill., June 18.—Jno. Carnahan recently sold a horse to George Williams and Pratt Foreman for $300. They then disposed of the animal to John Lippincott, realizing $1,000 thereby. Yesterday Lippincott's brother brought suit to recover the money, alleging conspiracy, fraud and hypnotism. Two hundred witnesses have been summoned and eminent counsel has been employed on both sides. The case was postponed until the 28th.

LOVE IN JAPAN.

Discarded Suitor's Treatment of the Girl Who Jilted Him.

The steamer Rio de Janeiro, which arrived recently from the orient, brought the following from Japan:

A tragic episode occurred recently in Kochi. Two years ago a young farmer in an out-of-the-way village fell in love with the pretty daughter of a fellow-villager. They exchanged vows and the girl received some trifling gifts from her admirer. Called away soon after on business, the young man kept up a desultory correspondence with his betrothed. As soon as he could he went back to his native village, only to find the girl false and the wife of another. Hers, it appeared, had been merely a girl's fancy. She was now the contented wife of a man whom she loved.

The disappointed suitor tried to arrange a meeting with her, but all his endeavors were foiled. Finally he wrote to her insisting upon the return of the gifts he had once made. This the young woman foolishly refused to do. The discarded suitor that night forced his way into the dwelling of his former love and her husband. He cut off the wife's head in the most barbarous fashion, and then seizing the husband, who was trying to escape, stabbed him to death. Taking the woman's head with him he returned to his own house. He placed the head on a low table, and, after upbraiding it in the bitterest terms, deliberately cut his own throat. Death was instantaneous.—San Francisco Examiner.

Eloquence Interrupted.

During a political campaign, a well-known lawyer in a western state was addressing an audience composed principally of farmers. Like a wise speaker—and a shrewd candidate—he tried to suit his speech to the occasion.

In a tone which he evidently considered both cordial and honest, and with a winning smile, he began:

"My friends, my sympathies have always been with the tillers of the soil. My father was a practical farmer, and so was my grandfather before him. I myself was born on a farm, and was, so to speak, reared between two stalks of corn."

Here his eloquence was rudely interrupted by the trumpet tones of a farmer in the rear of the hall.

"Jiminy crickets!" he shouted, "if you ain't a pumpkin!"

The house "came down," and the candidate, for the moment, at least, was sadly embarrassed.—Youth's Companion.

The Age of Books.

Verily, this is the age of books. The number of them piled in the cellars of the bookdealers is prodigious—there is no other word for it when one considers what the piles of recorded thought signify. The displays in the warerooms of these houses are but the flotsam of the great sea of literature whose currents swell in subterranean caverns, ever spouting to the surface new copies, and dragging to their depths from some mysterious source to fill their places still fresher volumes. With what amazement would any of the old fathers of literature look upon these outpourings of human thought. Even so recently as Macaulay's day there was nothing like the book printing that there is in our time. And we can almost imagine how Dr. Johnson would stare as he turned over the pages.—Buffalo Courier.

ST. LOUIS CLOTHING COMPANY.

AT HIS WIFE'S GRAVE

A Devoted Husband's Vigil for Fifteen Years.

HE LIVED IN A CEMETERY.

The Strange Story Sent Out from Miami, O., Regarding Edward L. Morrison.

"If you die, I will sleep by the side of your grave all the rest of my life." This remarkable vow was made fifteen years ago to his sick wife by Edwin L. Morrison, says a Miami, O., dispatch, at that time chief clerk of the Pennsylvania freight department, and a protégé of Ralph Peters, the superintendent of the Miami division of the Pennsylvania road.

For twelve days after his wife's death Morrison's grief was too great to allow him to fulfill his vow. He lived at Camp Denison, and when the stupor left him he built a rude hut at the side of his wife's grave in the Miami cemetery. To the sexton, who protested at first, Morrison said that he was receiving $35 a month to watch the grave. Time went by, and the man still sat in his hut gazing at the grave. At last the keeper of the cemetery learned his story.

Now Edwin L. Morrison, once the handsome railroad man, is old, wrinkled and haggard, but still sits in his rude hut by the side of the grave of the woman he loved so well. For fifteen years he has kept up this solemn vigil.

Morrison's history is full of tender pathos. An example of true devotion, he is familiarly known by every child in the village, and few persons visit the sequestered little town of Miami who fail to hear the sad story of Ed Morrison. In rain or shine, summer or winter, he lingers around that little spot of green turf. He seldom talks long of his wife now. A small bible is in his hut. It contains the names and dates of the birth of several boys and girls of his name, but most prominent upon this page of record are the words "Mary L. Morrison, died April 24, 1880," written with lead pencil in a very irregular, trembling hand. Here and there in his Bible are marked passages and folded leaves. Among these is a verse from I. Samuel, beginning: "Whereas, I have not dwelt in any house," etc., doubtless referring to his hermit life. Another verse, farther on in the book, is completely obliterated by a pencil scratch, while in the margin near it is written: "The fifth commandment, null and void." The grave of his wife is unmarked by head or foot stone.

"I have never put up a monument," he said. "It was her wish that I should not. 'They never tell the truth, anyway,' she said, and besides, I would always remember what she had been and where she was buried. I don't need any monument of stone to remind me of her, for, you see, I live here with her, and there is a monument to her memory built in my thoughts that reaches to the skies."

Day after day for years he has spent in the gloom of this old graveyard. No strife of the outer world mars his calm and peaceful existence. His friends have attempted to prevail on him to return to Cincinnati, but he refuses.

Having used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family and found it to be a first-class article, I take pleasure in recommending it to my friends. J. V. FOSTER, Westport, Cal.

ANECDOTES OF GLADSTONE.

Home and Religious Life of the Greatest of Britain's Premiers.

"Some time ago," says Rev. Newman Hall, D. D., "I was preaching in the north of England and happened to stay at the house of a solicitor who had paid a recent visit to Hawarden merely as a tourist. On his return he entered a carriage in which there was seated a woman with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, which my friend admired. 'Mr. Gladstone gave them to me,' said the woman. 'Oh,' replied my friend, 'how was that?' He was then told that every servant who left the castle with a good character was invited to return and spend a week during the summer. 'I used to be a servant there,' continued the woman, 'but left because I was going to be married. I have, however, just been staying there a week and as I was leaving I met Mr. Gladstone in the garden. He asked me if I liked flowers, and when I said I did he gave me this bunch, which he had in his hand, saying: 'Pray accept them.'"

"Another incident," Dr. Hall went on, "which I had in my mind happened when Mr. Gladstone was chancellor of the exchequer and was told me by Sir Francis Crossley. Sir Francis was one day dining with the vicar of St. Martins-in-the-Fields, to which church Mr. Gladstone used to go when living in Carlton House terrace; it was then that he heard the story from the vicar. The vicar had recently been to see a crossing sweeper in his parish who was ill. Asking him if anyone had been to see him the sweeper replied: 'Yes, Mr. Gladstone.' 'Which Mr. Gladstone?' asked the vicar. 'Mr. Gladstone,' repeated the poor invalid. 'But how came he to see you?' inquired the vicar. 'Well,' answered the crossing sweeper, 'he always had a nice word for me when he passed my crossing, and when I was not there he missed me. He asked my mate, who had taken my place, where I was, and when he heard I was ill he asked for me and when he was told he put it down on paper. So he called to see me.' 'And what did he do?' asked the vicar. 'Why, he read some Bible to me and prayed,' was the reply."—Detroit Free Press.

A Useful Dog.

President Scott at a meeting of the Cold Spring Business Men's association told a funny story about ministers who preach long sermons. A stranger occupied the pulpit of one of them one Sunday and at the close of an unusually brief discourse made his apologies to one of the vestrymen.

"I hope you will excuse my brevity this morning," said the crest-fallen clergyman.

"No excuse necessary," was the cheerful reply. "Your sermon was delightful."

"Well," said the reverend gentleman, "I'm glad to hear you say so, but to tell the truth I never preached under greater difficulties. When I started I was horrified to find that my dog had got hold of my MS. and chewed most of it beyond recognition."

"Is that so?" queried the astonished vestryman. "Well, your sermon was excellent and I can only say that you will confer a great favor on this parish by sending us one of those pups."—Buffalo Courier.

Lincoln Relics.

Among the Lincoln relics disposed of at a recent sale in Philadelphia was Lincoln's autograph copy of his bill for legal services for the Illinois Central Railroad company. The bill was for $5,000, and Lincoln had six members of the Illinois bar certify that the amount was not unreasonable. Another was the check for $250 given to him as a retainer. If successful Mr. Lincoln was to receive a fee of $1,000. After carrying the suit through the supreme court and winning it he presented a bill for the balance of his fee. It happened that President Brayan was absent and Mr. Lincoln was referred with his bill to the superintendent of the company, who refused to pay it, remarking: "This is as much as a first-class lawyer would charge." The man who spoke thus disparagingly of a future president of the United States was Gen. George B. McClellan, who at that time was superintendent of the Illinois Central railroad.

An Englishman's Will.

A famous London will bequeathed "all my black and white horses" to a certain devisee. After the lawyers had wrangled to determine whether all the black horses and all the white ones were meant, or only the piebald, or black and white ones, a witness testified that all the horses of the dead man were mares, and confusion was worse confounded.

The Men's Fault.

Amelia Barr, the novelist, claims that the men are to blame for women's extravagance in dress. If this be so it is one of those cases in which a man has to pay dearly for his fault.

A MUSICAL SOUL.

He had a soul for music, there was no disputing that—An ear which could detect at once a natural from a flat—He never missed a single chance to hear an artist play: Was at the opera every night, and every matinee.

He'd talk of fugues and nocturnes with the greatest sort of ease, Of madrigals and of minnows, of sopranos and high C's—He'd tell you how the trilogy should properly be sung, And often whistled snatches from the Götterdämmerung.

He'd store of pleasant memories of singers he had met, And those he'd not encountered have their debts to make yet. On Verdi and on Wagner he was truly most adroit; He'd even made a pilgrimage one season to Bayreuth.

He knew Herr Paderewski, and upon a window sill Could imitate Van Bulow with imitable skill. "Each morning on awakening, with fingers and his thumbs, He'd play upon the despoils a grand symphony for drums.

In fact, he lived for music; but he had no single fail. All music pleased his inner soul; he deemed no measure bad. But best of all he said he loved the xylophonic beat. Of those piano-organs that go round from street to street.

And as I thought about him, when I heard that he had died, I could not help a feeling of extraordinary pride. To think the age in which I lived had in its lit- Produced at last without a doubt a truly honest man.

For though I think all mortals love the xylophonic beat, Of those piano-organs that go round from street to street, It takes a man of honesty, such as we rarely know, Combined with nerve to stand erect and tell the public so.

—Harper's Bazar.

A COINCIDENCE.

BY LUKE SHARP.

Novelists are often blamed for a too frequent use of coincidence in their works of fiction, yet in real life nothing is so common as coincidence. Here is a little one that happened to me last week and it annoyed me somewhat while it lasted. And this reminds me that novelists are perfectly justified in using coincidences in their books, they are not justified in telling what is not true about the actions of an innocent or a guilty man. You have doubtless read a thousand times that a man who is innocent is as bold as a lion, and he looks you straight in the face, and generally acts the reverse of guilty. How often have we seen it on the stage, that the hero smites his breast and appeals to heaven, whereupon everybody in the gallery knows that he is innocent, and applauds loudly. The guilty person, on the other hand, is supposed to shrink, to stammer and to tell awkward lies, which nobody would think of believing.

My experience is that in real life the cases are exactly reversed. It is the liar that looks you straight in the face. It is the innocent man who blushes and cannot account for his actions.

Now the coincidence in this little true story, which I am about to relate, happened thus: At any other time in the week a telegraph messenger might have come and gone without my being troubled in the least, but it just chanced that at the moment he did come the one person in the world to whom his message seemed shaky, and to whom I was bound to give some reasonable explanation, was sitting in my office, tired out after the afternoon's shopping. A telegraph boy rapped at the door, and I shouted: "Come in!"

He came in. Now, a telegraph messenger looks important. He costs more than a postage stamp. A letter might have been handed in to me, and it would have created no comment, but when this messenger boy handed in his yellow envelope the person who sat in my room naturally wanted to know what it was all about, and I, being perfectly innocent, opened the envelope.

There dropped from it one of my own cards, and across the face of the card was written the address of the office, evidently in my own handwriting. I dimly remembered having given a card to somebody some days before, but to whom I could not recollect.

As the messenger boy stood there waiting, I turned the card over. The person, who might have been somewhere else, but who was there, was looking over my shoulder. On the other side of the card was written in a neat, delicate, feminine hand the words: "Please call before four this afternoon. Everything is all right." This was signed "C. K.," and that was all.

There was silence in the room for a moment. I knew that a look of guilt was creeping over my face, along with the perplexity that had been there from the beginning. I turned the card hopelessly over and over in my hand.

"Yes!" said the person at my elbow. "And who is that message from? What's going to be all right?" "Upon my soul," I answered, "I have not the slightest idea."

"It is your card," was next asserted.

"Yes," I answered, still bewildered, and looking hopelessly at it.

"And you wrote the address across the face of it?"

"Yes," I admitted. "It certainly is my writing."

"And you don't know from whom it is? Think a moment. When did you give her your card?"

"Her!" I cried, indignantly. "I don't know whether it's a 'him' or a 'her.'"

"Oh," said the questioner, with a smile. "It is quite evidently a 'her.' (Then to the messenger boy.) Who gave you this card, my boy?"

The boy, who evidently knew something of the world, instead of replying, looked at me as one who would say: "I'll not speak unless you want me to."

This gave the finishing touch to the situation.

I cried out angrily: "Why don't you answer the question, boy? Who gave you this card?"

The boy answered promptly: "Miss Kennibek, sir."

This was a knock-down blow for me. I had never heard of Miss Kennibek, and was perfectly prepared to swear to that fact, but the time for swearing, except in one particular way, was past. I saw that I would not be believed now on my oath. Nevertheless I cried out in a rage: "Who the Old Harry is Miss Kennibek?"

The boy answered: "She is the money clerk at the Surrey street post office."

Then I flung down the card with a great sigh of relief. I remembered all about it.

I must now go to a row I had with the post office department of Great Britain.

An author in the United States wrote me a letter, inclosing a postal order for four shillings and two pence. He asked me to be good enough to buy him English postage stamps to that amount and send them over to him. He had found out, what many American authors have apparently yet to learn, that American postage stamps are of no use in England, and, as he wished to try some MSS. on a number of British publications, he wished to be able to inclose English postage stamps for their return.

I went to the post office named on the order, and the clerk there took down from a pigeon hole a sheaf of papers, and hastily looked them over.

"We can't pay this order. The notice has not yet been received."

"Well," I said, somewhat hastily, "I can't run backwards and forwards from my office to this place. When is it likely to arrive?"

"I don't know," was the answer. "But you can pay the order into your bank, and it will be cashed."

"Then why can't you cash it now?" I said. "If you can cash it for the bank, you may just as well let me have the money. It's only a small sum."

Nevertheless I could not get the money, and I left, making some remarks derogatory to the postal order system.

Three days later I returned to the post office, and whatever document it was that should have arrived had not yet come in. I was somewhat annoyed, and did not make any attempt to conceal my opinion of the state of things.

Again that irritating remark was made that I could pay it into my banking account.

"But, hang it," I said, "supposing I haven't a banking account. Supposing this money was sent to keep me from starvation, should I have to starve to death because some stupid official neglected his business? Your document should have arrived at least at the same time as mine did."

But the beauty of the British post office department is that it does not care a hang for anybody, and I suppose that everybody there thought it rather funny that I should imagine that the department existed for the convenience of the public. Anyhow I pulled out my card, dashed my address across it, flung it on the counter and said:

"I am not going to fool away any more time coming here. When you have that money ready for me, send me word, and I'll come and get it."

The moral of this true story is, that a man should never lose his temper under any circumstances, even when he has dealings with the money-order office of Great Britain, for if I had not left that card, I would not have spent an uncomfortable ten minutes when the telegraph messenger brought it in, after I had forgotten all about it.—Detroit Free Press.

The Only Remedy in the World that Refunds Purchase Price if it Fails to Cure the Tobacco Habit in 4 to 10 Days is

NARCOTI CURE

It Cures While You Continue the Use of Tobacco.

The greatest discovery of the age! A certain, pleasant, permanent cure.

A lifetime's suffering ended for $5.00

Why smoke and spit your life away? Why suffer from dyspepsia, heartburn, and drains on your vital forces?

Stop using tobacco, but stop the right way! Drive the nicotine from your system by the use of this wonderful remedy.

NARCOTI-CURE is warranted to remove all desire for tobacco in every form, including Cigar, Cigarette, and Pipe Smoking, Chewing and Snuff Taking.

Use all the tobacco you want while under treatment, and in from four to ten days your "hankering" and "caving" will disappear—the weed won't taste good.

Then throw away tobacco forever. NARCOTI-CURE is entirely vegetable and free from injurious ingredients. It never fails to give tone and new vigor to the weakest constitution.

Remember NARCOTI-CURE doesn't deprive you of tobacco while effecting a cure; doesn't ask you to buy several bottles to be entitled to a guarantee; doesn't require a month's treatment; and, finally, doesn't enable you to stop tobacco only to find yourself a slave to the habit of tablet chewing.

With NARCOTI-CURE, when you are through with tobacco, you are through with the remedy. One bottle cures

HUNTINGTON, Mass., March 18, 1895. THE NARCOTI-CHEMICAL CO., Springfield, Mass.

GENTLEMEN:—I have used tobacco for over twenty-five years, chewing and smoking every day from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. stopping only for meals.

On Monday, February 4, I called at your office in Springfield, and bought a bottle of the CURE which I used as directed, and on the tenth day the desire for tobacco had left me and it was not returned. I did not lose a meal while taking the CURE. My appetite has improved and I consider NARCOTI-CURE a grand thing.

Very respectfully, CHAS. L. LINCOLN.

Mr. Frank H. Morton, of Chicopee Falls, Mass., late Inspector of Public Buildings for Massachusetts, says:

I used tobacco for twenty-five years and was a confirmed smoker. In just eight days' treatment with NARCOTI-CURE I was through with tobacco, in fact the desire for tobacco vanished like a dream.

Very respectfully, FRANK H. MORTON.

If your druggist is unable to give full particulars about NARCOTI-CURE, send to us for Book of Particulars free, or send $5.00 for bottle by mail.

A FIERCE FIGHT.

The Combatants Were a Black-snake and a Rattler.

The Tactics of the Former Were Too Much for His Antagonist—A Battle Royal in the Swamps of Southern Florida.

I was resting near one of the lagoons in South Florida, one day about noon, after a morning spent in hunting. It was a clear, beautiful day, and, after finishing a light luncheon, I had my attention attracted by a slight movement in the underbrush about ten feet back of me. I started a little upon seeing an enormous diamond-black rattlesnake stretched out in the sun. It had evidently been sleeping and was just waking up from its slumbers. For this reason it had not announced its presence before by rattling. I wanted a good skin of a fine specimen, and picked up my gun to kill it; but, before I could shoot, the appearance of another snake, a large blacksnake this time, made me hesitate. The rattler suddenly raised its head and immediately began to coil and rattle. The blacksnake stopped in its journey and looked savagely at the rattler, as if measuring its strength. The two reptiles were angry and their bead-like eyes seemed to emit sparks of fire.

For nearly a minute the two remained in this attitude, the rattler coiled ready to strike, and the blacksnake with head quivering with suppressed emotion as it moved from side to side. Then the challenge seemed to be accepted, and the blacksnake suddenly darted in a curve toward the rattler, but the curve did not bring the long trailing body within reach of the deadly fangs. With rapid motions, the blacksnake began to move around the coiled rattler in various-sized circles now narrowing and now broadening them. The rattler twisted its body slightly to keep its eyes upon the enemy, striking now and then as the curves brought the black reptile close to it. But the blacksnake was too quick in its movements. Round and round it flew until its body seemed to lengthen out into one circle of black. It made me dizzy to watch the reptile, and the rattler's head seemed to sway uneasily as if affected in the same way by the strange evolutions of its adversary. The strikes of the rattler became more frequent, desperate, and less accurate, and once or twice it nearly lost its balance after a vicious dive.

But the blacksnake never once changed its tactics. Swifter and swifter its lithe body seemed to move, until the rattler was unable to follow it with any degree of accuracy. Then suddenly without warning, there was a change. The black circle suddenly curved sharply toward the center. The blacksnake had made a dive at its dizzy adversary, and when the two struggled together in a heap a moment later I could see that the blacksnake had the rattler by the throat in such a way that the poisonous fangs were useless. In this position the two twisted and squirmed around on the ground until finally the lithe blacksnake had wrapped its body around the thick one of its adversary. Tighter and tighter the coils were drawn while the jaws seemed to be locked eternally into the throat of the rattler. For nearly ten minutes they rolled around in this way, and then the struggles grew weaker until the rattler stretched out as if dead. The conqueror, however, did not loosen its hold on the throat until the body was quiet except for the wriggling of the tip of the tail. Then it let go, and after circling around the body several times, it slunk away in the swamp.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Prince Raised His Hat.

Capt. James Oliver, of the clipper Louisiana, which arrived at Philadelphia recently, tells this story: "When the Louisiana was lying at Dublin, the prince of Wales was the guest of the lord mayor of the Irish capital. The mayor suggested to Wales that it would be interesting for him to visit the Louisiana, and see just what an old-time American clipper ship looked like. Capt. Oliver was notified that the prince would like to come aboard. The captain's son, hearing of this, declared that he would compel the prince to tip his hat to him. This the prince never does, by the way. When the party came aboard, the boy appeared on deck waving the American flag. The prince, noticing the national colors, raised his hat and the others in the party followed suit, to the great delight of the captain's son, who in this way made good his boast."—Philadelphia Record.

SHE CHANGED HER DRESS

Did It with Neatness and Grace in a Passenger Car.

How an Independent and Self-Contained Little Woman Won the Admiration of Her Fellow Travelers—An Incident on a Railroad Train.

"Savoir-faire," of the French Frenchy, is without a synonym in the English language. It properly belongs to a race that intuitively follows the old adage: "What's worth doing is worth doing well." They are adepts in the art of diplomacy. Under trying circumstances they are cool and collected.

"I had taken a train in this city for a trip to Philadelphia," said a Washington man to a Post reporter, "and after an hour's stay in the smoker went into one of the regular passenger coaches. Casually looking over my fellow passengers I happened to let my gaze rest upon a demure, dainty little woman across the aisle from me, but whose seat was in alignment with mine. She was intently perusing the pages of a paper-covered French novel. A little later she dropped the book and produced from her traps—she was surrounded by boxes and hand bags and shawl-strap bundles—a steamer schedule of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, the French line to Havre. To all appearances she was unconscious of the existence of her neighbors. She had removed her hat, a tasty toque, and was attired in a skirt, beneath which there peeped forth a trim little foot encased in a soft slipper.

"As we neared the Quaker city she became nervously animated. Laying aside her steamer schedule, she resurfaced from some unseen hidden place a blouse of soft, rich material. She then tripped down the aisle to the ladies' lavatory, and a moment later returned with the silk garment, the blouse having taken its place. Resuming the seat, she buttoned the blouse with deft fingers, fixed a gold brooch in place at her throat and as quickly girdled her petite figure with a leather belt.

"By this time I became interested in her movements, and wondered what she would do next. I was not long left in the dark. With refreshing nonchalance she tossed over her head a street skirt of like fabric to the blouse. In some mysterious manner this was secured under the belt, as the alpaca gown dropped to the floor. Then it was that every person in the car was watching her.

"I knew the next scene in the transformation act would be her most trying ordeal—the substitution of something more substantial than slippers. The circumscribed space between the seats of a day passenger coach is hardly the place one would select for such calisthenic exercise as I knew my fair fellow traveler was about to indulge in. Time, place and surroundings disturbed her not. A pair of stout walking boots were brought forth, the exchange soon made, and with the assistance of a silver button hook firmly fastened. During this operation her skirts were so carefully arranged about her ankles that not the smallest bit of hosiery was displayed, nor could a close observer get a glimpse of lingerie.

"The whole thing was so deftly done, so quickly accomplished, with grace and ease, while the principal performer was evidently ignorant of the contiguity of half a hundred amused people, that I could not help but admire the lovely little creature, so independent and self-contained."

Parole Felons.

Under an English law of not very old date, felons who were well behaved while in durance vile and whose offenses were not of the gravest, were ticketed and given their liberty. If this liberty was not abused and the paroled men gave indications of leading better lives they were allowed to remain at large. This provision of the English law seems to have struck Gov. Rich as being sensible, and he recommends to the legislature the enactment of a law which will permit the executive of the state to parole such as may be deemed worthy of so great a favor. The governor's plan provides for the apprehension and return to prison of any paroled prisoners at any time and without further process of law, if their conduct is not all it should be. This plan has been adopted in California and is said to be well liked there.—Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald.

Keeping Eggs Cool.

"It had seemed strange to me," said Mr. Naggleby, "to see eggs among the things that are set out on the window sill at this season to keep cool. Milk always seems all right there, and butter, and some other things; but eggs didn't seem so clear. But Mrs. Naggleby tells me that eggs are always kept in the refrigerator; that they keep better cool, and beat much better, and that, indeed, it is not unusual when eggs are to be beaten to set them first right on the ice."—N. Y. Sun.

The Theory of the Digestion of Food.

The human stomach is a pear-shaped bag into which all food drops at once when swallowed. Three things happen—the blood rushes into the substance of the stomach (not into its interior) to heat it; thousands of little ducts or pipes pour copiously forth a fluid called the gastric juice; and, then, the stomach begins a wave-like, churning, movement which thoroughly mixes the gastric juice with the food, and by-and-by changes the whole into a gray-looking, semi-liquid paste called chyme. This is digestion as it takes place in health.

But, look you! If the stomach fails to furnish the gastric juice, or fails to furnish enough of it, the food simply lies in the stomach and turns sour, putrefies, ferments—as it would in a warm, moist air outdoors. This is indigestion, dyspepsia or gastritis. Having no other way of escape the poisons so engendered pass into the circulation and set up a train of results like these—headache; foul taste in the mouth; loss of appetite and nausea; furred tongue, disordered heart action; nervous weakness and prostration; chills followed by heat flashes; distress and weight in the chest after eating; fugitive muscular pains, followed in time, by grave local ailments, etc. All this, bear in mind, comes of a more or less complete failure of the stomach to secrete gastric juice.

Having studied this subject for many years the Shakers of Mt. Lebanon (N. Y.)—famous as medicinal chemists and herbalists—sought among the plants cultivated by them only for a remedy which should have the distinct and special effect of stimulating the flow of gastric juice to a normal amount and at the same time of the full, natural digestive strength. No other so-called remedies for dyspepsia have this purpose in view, yet it is the absolutely essential thing. Successful in their efforts, even beyond their hopes, they have placed their discovery on the market under the name of the Shaker Digestive Cordial. Its effects are immediate and radical. Relief is felt at once and a permanent cure soon follows. It is the sure and scientific remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia.

Confident in their work the Shakers offer trial bottles at the nominal price of ten cents. For sale by Mertz & Hale.

RUPTURE CURED!

DR. TANDY & CO.

The Rupture Specialists

Will be at LeGrande Hotel, Sedalia,

Next Monday

And every following Monday until further notice.

Parties desiring to be cured by Dr. Tandy & Co. should see him at his next visit.

Many cases of reference can be given of parties cured throughout the state.

A large number of cases have been treated by us throughout the state, and will gladly furnish the names of these parties to anyone wishing to investigate. We claim to absolutely cure rupture without the use of the knife, loss of blood and without causing pain, of any age and either sex. Under our treatment the patient can remain at business except at the time of taking the treatment, which is only once a week, and from one to four weeks effecting a cure.

We court investigation, and ask those suffering from hernia to call and see us. We charge nothing for examination.

Ladies wishing treatment will be treated at their homes if they so desire.

Read the following testimonial. We have hundreds more of the same tenor:

This is to certify that I have suffered with a very bad rupture, notwithstanding my age, seventy-nine years. My rupture has been healed up by Dr. Tandy, Elmwood, Mo., A. MARY FRANCISCO.

RAILROAD RUMBLE.

The Freight Rate Situation Looks Better.

A BRAKEMAN'S INJURIES.

Items of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of "Democrat" Readers.

By agreement between all the lines in interest, St. Louis-Missouri river rates are to be restored on June 29, and rigidly maintained on and after that day.

Coupled with the restoration of Southwestern rates, to take effect on the same day, this will greatly improve the situation, and traffic officials are hopeful that there will be no more demoralization on this side of the river for some time to come.

In eastbound rates there is no sign of improvement. It was expected that the general managers would be called together this week, but no announcement of such a meeting has been made as yet. The daily traffic reports are interesting documents just now. There are seven roads in the eastbound pool, and one of them is moving, on an average, 30 per cent of all the business. To what extent the increase in this road's net earnings will be proportionate to the increase in its tonnage is another matter.

Colorado-Utah rates were under discussion yesterday at a meeting of interested lines held in Chicago to consider the Union Pacific's recent cut. Freight Traffic Manager C. A. Parker, of the Missouri Pacific, was one of those in attendance.

Track Under Water.

The track of the Lexington branch at Myrick, the junction with the Jefferson City, Booneville and Lexington division, was reported three feet under water last night. Conductor Lewis' train, due here at 11:20 last night, arrived promptly on time, having plowed through the water without trouble.

Caused a Long Delay.

The heavy downpour of rain along the M., K. & E. yesterday afternoon caused the washing out of a bridge at Claysville, the first station west of North Jefferson, and the Texas train, due here at 7 o'clock last evening did not arrive until 8 o'clock this morning. A less serious washout occurred at Hartsburg. The night train from St. Louis arrived less than fifteen minutes late.

An Opportune Visit.

Among the passengers on the daylight train over the M., K. & E. from St. Louis yesterday was D. B. Hussey, general foreman of the bridge and building department, who, when the washout occurred at Claysville, assumed command of the forces and helped to bridge the chasm. He was en route to this city, but remained at Franklin Junction, looking after the physical condition of the road during the high water.

Hospital Report.

The following patients were admitted to the M., K. & T. hospital this morning:

Pat Yarnell, section laborer, Parsons.

George H. Hill, section laborer, Waxahatchie, Texas, intermittent fever.

J. Salmonds, section laborer, Denison, laceration of middle, ring and little finger of right hand.

Roadmaster A. Manley, of the Missouri Pacific, is here from Lexington today.

Missouri Pacific train No. 6 came in from Kansas City one-half hour late this morning.

Superintendent W. G. Brownlee, of the Missouri Pacific, went to St. Louis this forenoon.

Baggage man Ed Sheidon, of the M., K. & T., is laying off on account of the illness of his wife.

T. E. DeBrill, assistant claim agent of the M., K. & T., passed through from Parsons to Pilot Grove this morning.

Ike Lamb, the young son of Wagner Conductor Ed Lamb, who suffered a severe fall a few days ago, is much better this morning, and is getting along nicely.

General Manager Doddridge, of the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain, has gone to Texas to confer with Vice President Thorne, of the Texas and Pacific, on matters of joint service.

For the first week of June the earnings of the Missouri Pacific Iron Mountain amounted to $380,000, an increase of $66,000 over 1894; Missouri, Kansas and Texas, $188,590, an increase of $52,445.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas company has listed on the New York Stock Exchange $50,000 additional first mortgage fifty-years 5 per cent guaranteed gold bonds of 1942, making the amount listed $2,685,000, and also $330,000 first mortgage extension 5 per cent fifty-year gold bonds.

Missouri Pacific Brakeman Ockerman, on the Ft. Scott and Rich Hill division, fell off the train while it was in rapid motion, Saturday morning before day, sustaining serious injuries, says the Nevada Mail. It was quite dark at the time. The train was stopped as soon as possible and a search instituted for the unfortunate man, who was finally found wandering aimlessly in the timber and apparently demented. He was left in the care of a physician and the train went on its way to Ft. Scott.

C. E. Powers, the M., K. & T. brakeman, who had his right arm so badly crushed at Muskogee while coupling cars about four weeks ago, has been visiting friends in this city for a few days past, says the Nevada Post. Mr. Powers has a bottle with three bones in it, about two inches long, which were taken out of his crushed arm. He returned to the hospital at Sedalia today, where he will remain for some time. He will not be able to work for several months. Mr. Powers speaks in much praise of the good attention and kind treatment he received at the M., K. & T. hospital at Sedalia.

WILL COME TO SEDALIA.

X. P. Willey Elected Principal of Broadway School.

The many friends of Prof. X. P. Willey, while they will be glad to hear of his good fortune, will regret sincerely that it takes him away from Fayette, says the Fayette Democrat-Banner.

Having resided here continuously for the past six years, his sterling qualities have commended him to all who have to consider him as their neighbor and their friend.

His phenomenal success as an orator has given both himself and our city a reputation of almost national extent, and has caused our citizens, if possible, to even feel a keener interest in him. The Future Capital City is to be congratulated in securing his citizenship and Fayette will feel the need of unselfish condolence when he leaves.

Will Meet Tonight.

The stockholders of the defunct First National bank will meet at Justice Levens' office at 8 o'clock this evening, where the matter of concerted resistance to the payment of the 75 per cent. assessment will be made. Receiver Latimer has been directed to push the suits after July 1st, and the meeting tonight will be of the greater importance on that account.

Cyclone Recalled.

The windstorm of last evening recalled the fact that on the 17th of June, 1882, just thirteen years ago, the town of Grinnell, Iowa, was visited by a cyclone, in which forty persons lost their lives and a hundred more were injured. Thirty-five of the dead were buried at one time, in one cemetery.

Will Be Married Tomorrow.

A marriage license was issued this morning to J. S. Elder and Miss Mary A. Naffziger, both of Green Ridge, and they will be married tomorrow afternoon, at the home of the bride.

Held for Murder.

Mrs. Virginia Todd, of Hannibal, sister of Mrs. Annie Ingram, of this city, will have a preliminary hearing next Tuesday, the 25th, on the charge of having murdered her daughter, Hettie Bethel, Sunday. The defendant still claims that the shooting was done by the deceased, in a scuffle over the revolver. The
